Rules and Regulations

Non-profit organizations only:

The Farmers Market@St. Stephen's is committed to supporting non-profit organizations in fulfilling their missions. Generally, we will provide space to non-profits for up to four (4) markets during a single market season, depending on availability of space.

Partisan political organizations are excluded and no organization is allowed to exhibit or circulate a petition of any kind.

Non-profit organizations are considered guests of the market and do not pay an application fee or rental fee. Organizations are required to comply with all the market rules and regulations, including those concerning cancellations. Organizations who fail to comply with the market rules may lose the opportunity to participate at the market in the future and may be required to vacate the market premises during a market session, depending on the violation committed or the conduct of the representatives of the organization at the market.

Anything herein or in the market rules and regulations to the contrary notwithstanding, the Farmers Market @St. Stephen's reserves the right to refuse space to any nonprofit or other entity for any reason whatsoever in its sole discretion.
